

Consider Relocation Services

Have you thought about relocation services for an existing modular laboratory that needs to be moved and set up at a new location? The longevity and quality of our client's products and laboratories are always of the utmost importance to us. The relocation of a laboratory facility is no different, which is why we perform a thorough evaluation of the existing site of the laboratory as well as the new site of the facility as part of our meticulous relocation process. These evaluations serve to generate information regarding price and scope, but more importantly to generate proper design features and techniques necessary to place the laboratory safely and properly at the new proposed location. Once the evaluation process has been completed, CERTEK will be able to provide recommendations for relocating your facility, as well as to quote a price for the actual relocation portion of the service.

It is our goal to provide our clients with the absolute best products, facilities, and services possible. Our attention to detail and preparedness is one of the keys to our success and, we believe, contributes to the success of our clients. Consider allowing us to share our success with you when you choose to use CERTEK's Modular Laboratory Relocation Services (MLRS) for your laboratory relocation needs.
